Description

The 5th Asian Nuclear Power Briefing 2017 will take a pragmatic overview of the current global nuclear power scene, particularly in Asia focusing on the road ahead: • What are the policies and issues that governments have to face when determining what role nuclear power will play in its energy mix? • Funding nuclear power generation investments • Energy security and sustainability • Rebuilding public confidence in nuclear power as a safe and sustainable source of energy • Identifying innovative technology for nuclear power • Decommissioning and supply chain • Commercialising SMRs Erratic and constant rising prices in oil and gas and the ever increasing threat to its regular and uninterrupted supply shows that nuclear power is still very much a part of the future of an effective Asian energy mix.
